

References and Further Reading

For current / past antifascist articles, contact info for sharing tips, and other resources, you can visit:

<https://stumptownresearchcollective.noblogs.org>

<https://rosecityantifa.org/>

cvantifa.noblogs.org

<https://latenightafa.noblogs.org/>

<https://bywayofplymouth.noblogs.org>

<https://globalextrémism.org/>

<https://torch-antifa.org/>

<https://www.wewillfreeus.org/>

To share tips about fascist activity in your area, you can find some additional AFA groups to contact here:

<https://torch-antifa.org/chapters/>

FAR RIGHT THREATS

A Reference Guide For Recognizing Far Right Groups,
Symbols and Dog Whistles

Introduction

As of spring 2026, this zine serves as a reference guide to far-right symbols, dogwhistles, and groups, helping you recognize and understand them. The list focuses on the most active groups and the most commonly used phrases and symbols at this time.

Not all neo-Nazi and white supremacist groups openly brand themselves with swastikas or SS bolts. Recognizing their dogwhistles is essential to accurately identifying them as the community threats they are. Some groups and individuals deliberately project a public-facing image of "patriotism" or opposition to "foreign wars" to appear more mainstream, while privately holding the same beliefs as more openly neo-Nazi organizations. Because some symbols are not exclusive to neo-Nazis, fascists, or white supremacists, it's important to look for additional context clues and patterns of use.

Dogwhistles are coded messages communicated through words or phrases understood by a specific in-group, but not by outside observers. Neo-Nazis and white supremacists use dogwhistles to signal to one another while maintaining plausible deniability.

Vinlanders Social Club: Vinlanders Social Club (VSC / Firm 22) is a violent neo-Nazi bonehead gang formed in 2003. It uses Firm 22 as a support crew of men and women; the men being prospects for full VSC membership.

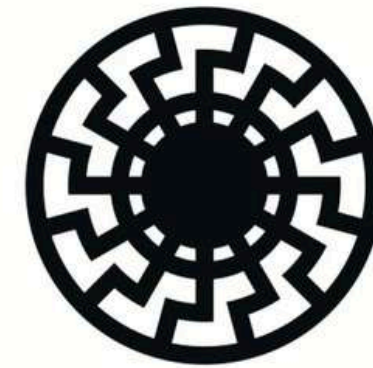

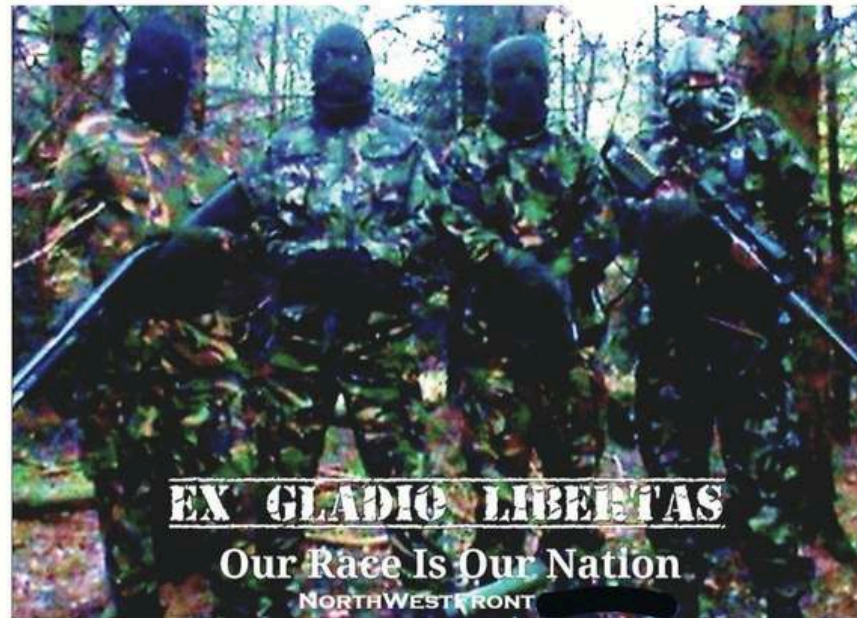

VSC / Firm 22 went into decline in the 2010s, but has been attempting to build itself back up through proximity to the active club movement, much like the Hammerskins.

Its symbols include a black cross on a green flag, 22, 1422, an eagle holding brass knuckles, a red, white & blue shield patch with a laurel, or just a laurel.

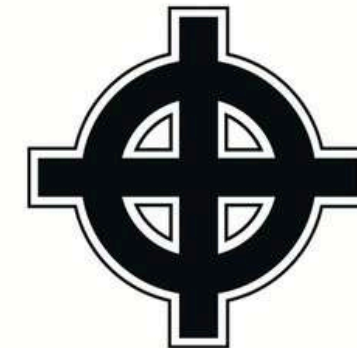

Symbols

Black Sun

Celtic Cross

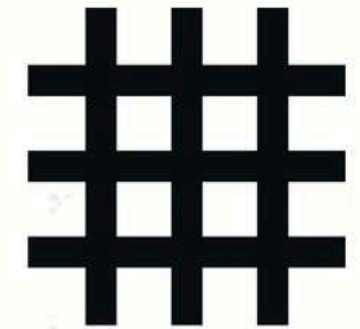

Totenkopf

Wolfsangel

Iron Cross

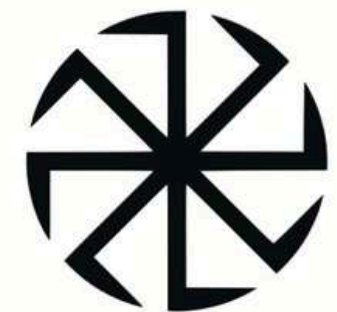

St. Michael's Cross

Broken Sun

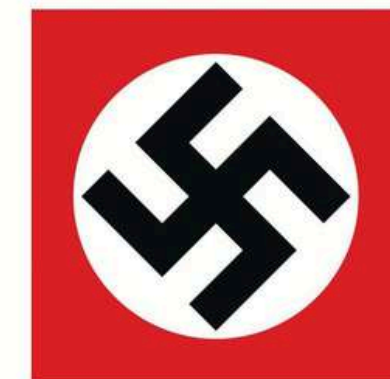

SS Bolts

Kolovrat

Fascis

Swastika

Odal / Othala

NWTI: "The Northwest Territorial Imperative" is a vision of a whites-only homeland in the Pacific NW. Proposed in the '80s by Richard Butler of the Aryan Nations, it is an idea embraced by a wide variety of white supremacists, including secretive militant nazi groups dedicated to implementing the vision, such as Northwest Front (NF) or the Northwest Pioneer Association (NPA). NWTI is represented by an inverted Cascadian tri-color flag - having vertical stripes, rather than horizontal. Their flag sometimes includes a rune or swastika. Common associated phrases: "Come Home, White Man" and "Ex Gladio Libertas".

Flags

An Appeal To Heaven

Don't Tread On Me

No Quarter Given

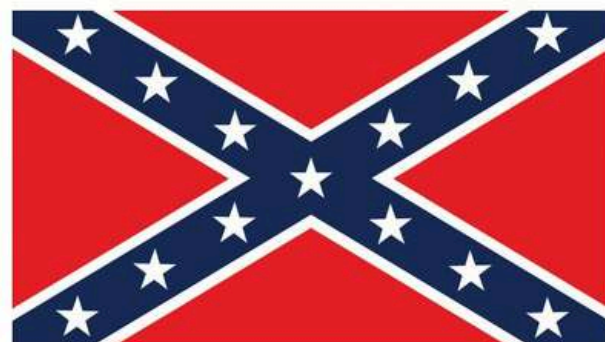

Christian Nationalism

Thin Blue Line

Betsy Ross

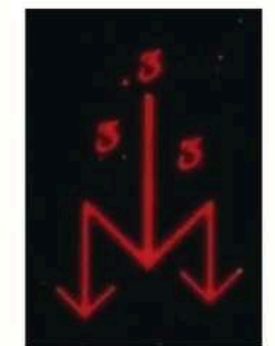

Confederate

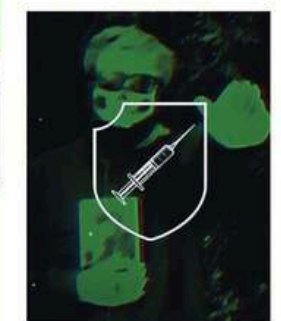

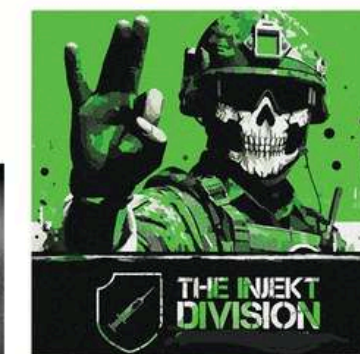

Kekistan

Tempel ov Blood / O9A: The Order of Nine Angles (O9A), and its most violent chapter, The Tempel ov Blood (ToB), are satanic neo-Nazi cults that have had a significant influence on far-right accelerationist projects, like the now-defunct Atomwaffen. Suffice to say, O9A and ToB glorify nazism and violence, and are adept at radicalizing (and abusing) teenagers. Symbols include the seven-pt star inside a circle, a downward sort of pitchfork with 333 above it, and "Drill Sgt Grey" - a sinister space alien in a military outfit.

Injekt Division is an accelerationist nazi group that was formed by Coleman Blevins (aka Korb) in 2021. They are organized in decentralized cells, embracing a terror guerrilla ideology that looks to collapse the "System". Their symbols include a syringe, 1494 and "Pray For Rain".

Asatru Folk Assembly: A Norse pagan organization which advocates for pre-Christian European rituals and beliefs. The organization discourages “race-mixing” and promotes a whites-only vision of America, falsely claiming that white people were in North America first and were wiped out. Members of other neo-Nazi groups such as Blood Tribe associate often with them.

Phrases / Numbers

.131: Anti Communist Action (ACA), the numbers referring to the letters of the alphabet

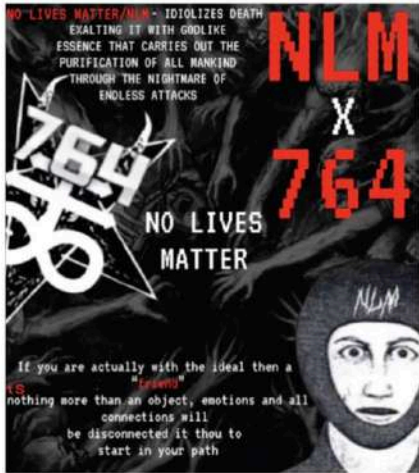

Blue Lives Matter / All Lives Matter: These phrases are nothing more than a response to people saying “Black Live Matter” and as way to silence Black voices. Cops can always choose to take off their uniform, while Black people cannot take off their skin or escape the discrimination that comes with it. No one would go to an event to save the rainforests and say that all forests matter. If all lives matter, as racists love to say, then Black lives have to matter. All lives can’t matter until Black lives matter because they are the ones being targeted by police, racist attacks, and everyday discrimination.

TDOTR: The Day of the Rope, a fictional day from the book The Turner Diaries in which race traitors (women who marry non-white men, the press, politicians, LGBTQ people and more) are hanged from lampposts.

6MWE: “Six Million Wasn’t Enough” referring to the number of Jewish people murdered during the holocaust.

The Great Replacement Theory: white supremacist conspiracy theory that argues democratic and government officials are intentionally facilitating non-white immigration to replace the white population for political purposes.

764 / No Lives Matter: 764 is an international, predatory network that espouses neo-Nazi, satanic, nihilistic, and accelerationist beliefs. It targets and exploits children / young people and encourages them to commit mass acts of violence. Adherents have been responsible for acts such as murder, firebombings, and school shootings.

It's okay to be white: While no one is saying it's not okay to be white, this phrase creates perceived victimhood and is a stepping stone to great replacement.

WPWW: White Pride World Wide

GTKRWN: Gas the Kikes, Race War Now

RAHOWA: Racial Holy War

RWDS: Right Wing Death Squad

Blood and Soil: A reference to race and nationality from Nazi Germany

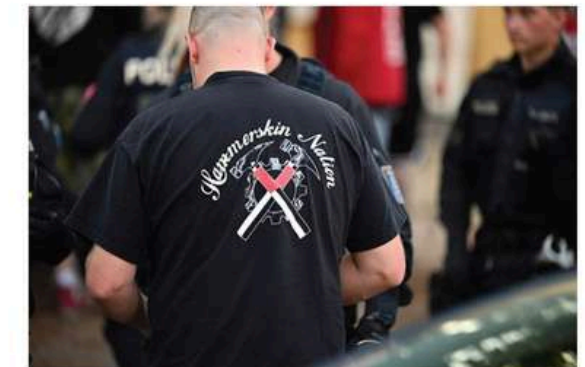

14: A reference to the 14 words "we must secure the existence of our people and a future for white children" coined by David Lane.

88: 8 Represents the 8th letter of the alphabet, HH or "Heil Hitler." Variations include H8 and 83 "Heil Christ." You will often see the numbers 14 and 88 together (1488 or 14/88).

WP: White Power. Also sometimes signified by an "okay" hand gesture.

Reclaim America: White supremacist slogan advocating for the "reclaiming" of America from immigrants (referencing the racist Great Replacement theory).

Hammerskins: A racist skinhead group, aka boneheads. The feeder group is known as Crew 38 (38 for "Crossed Hammers"). Hammerskins focus mostly on spreading racist music, but they also engage in street fighting and targeted attacks. Hammerskin Nation is considered one of the most violent racist skinhead groups in the US. They use a hand sign of crossed arms with fists to represent the crossed hammers.

Wolves of Vinland: This Northwest group has heavy folkish influences and stresses Asatru or Paganism, including animal sacrifices and blood rituals in the woods. They use a lot of runes and Nordic imagery to promote white supremacy and misogyny. Operation Werewolf is the recruiting tool and feeder group to Wolves of Vinland. They can be spotted with Celtic and Nordic imagery, runes, and wolf back patches.

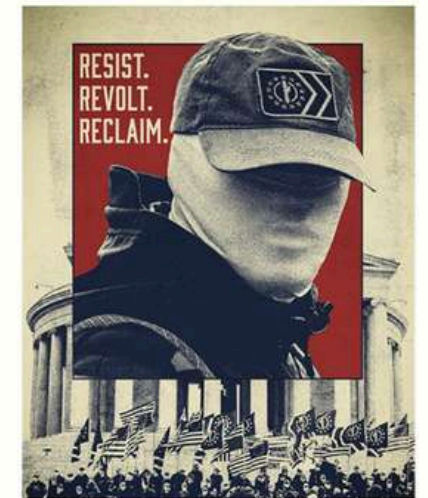

Oathkeepers: Far-right anti-government militia founded in 2009 by Stewart Rhodes. Oathkeepers played a key role in the January 6 insurrection at the US Capitol.

Oathkeepers appeal directly to military and law enforcement personnel, encouraging them to keep their “oath” to defend the public from what they perceive as the new world order, by means of discipline and violence. They’re also associated with three percenters.

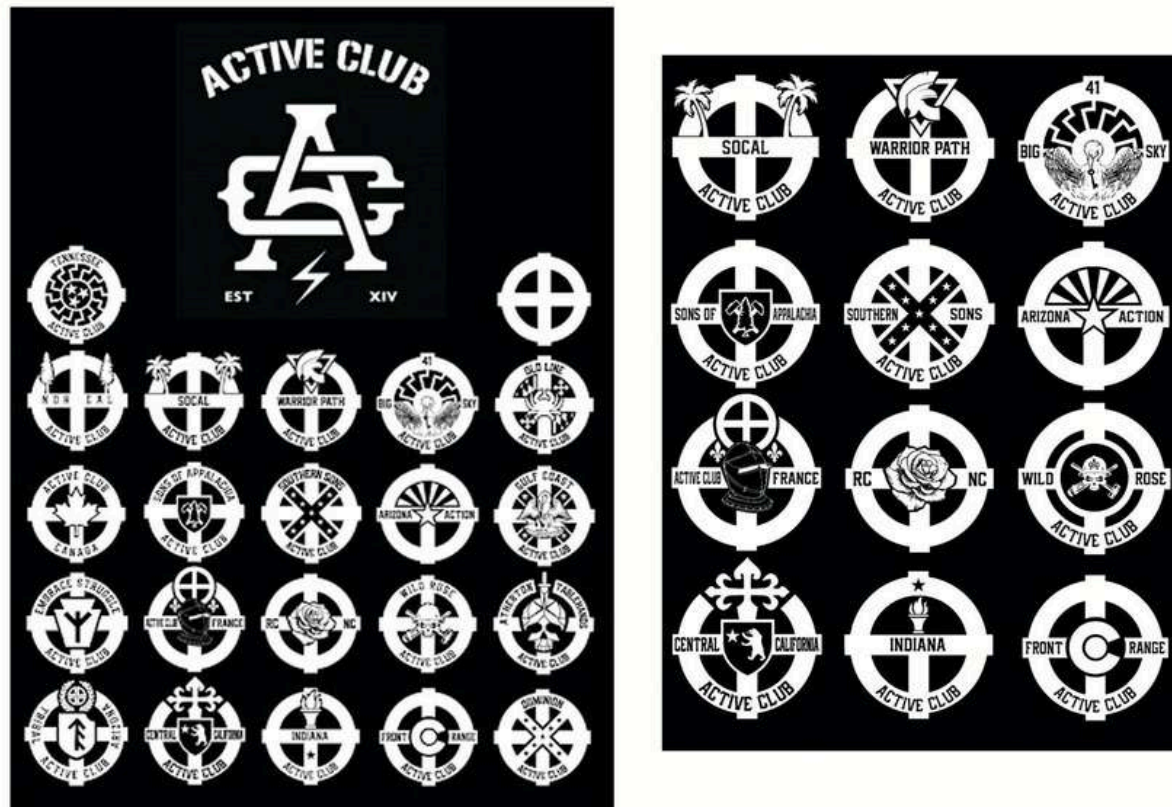

Groups / Orgs

Patriot Front: A white nationalist group mostly focused on using patriotic imagery and rhetoric to spread propaganda and recruit. Founded by Thomas Rousseau, the group broke off from Vanguard America in 2017 after the deadly Charlottesville rally in Virginia. They care primarily about public image. Their style involves patriotic designs including red white and blue, fasces, khaki pants, and white masks with matching shirts, shields, the Confederate flag, and the Betsy Ross flag, and the US flag. Despite their efforts to be palatable to a wider audience, outside of public view they espouse anti-semitic, pro-white and pro-nazi views. Patriot Front is currently one of the largest white nationalist groups in the US.

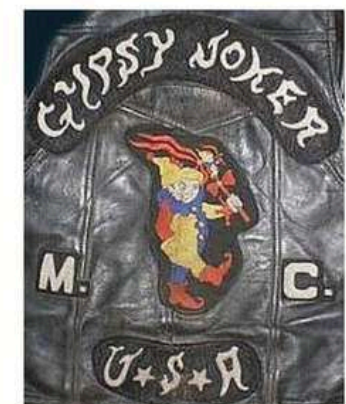

Active Clubs: Active Clubs are white supremacist fight clubs widespread across the US and throughout parts of Europe. They use the guise of fitness and training to try recruiting mostly younger white men into their clubs.

Often members will march with other larger neo-nazi / white supremacist groups, and all chapters share the same logo of a Celtic Cross with text representative of their region. Many Active Clubs in the US are directly tied to Thomas Rousseau and Patriot Front.

Gypsy Jokers: A one percenter motorcycle club with white supremacist sympathies who are known to traffic drugs and engage in low level organized crime and violence. They wear motorcycle gear adorned with nazi symbols and a back patch that says "Gypsy Jokers." In recent years they have been known to associate with the Proud Boys.

Blood Tribe: Blood Tribe is a neo-nazi group started by former marine Christopher Pohlhaus. They are known for being one of the most outward facing Nazi groups, holding semi-regular marches in cities across the US. They wear matching red and black outfits with black face coverings, and march with matching black and white swastika flags, and will loudly chant white supremacist and nazi slogans. Their goal is to instill a Fourth Reich in the US.

Atomwaffen Division: Also known as the National Socialist Order, Atomwaffen is an accelerationist (accelerating towards a race war in which they hope to overthrow the current government and society and replace it with a fascist order) nazi group responsible for several murders. After numerous arrests and infighting, the group dissolved, only recently attempting to reform in 2025, though failing to gain support. Responsible for popularizing the skull mask within neo-nazi groups, other symbols include the radioactive symbol and flecktarn (a German camo pattern similar to the "peas" pattern from WW2). Although now defunct, their influence remains significant.

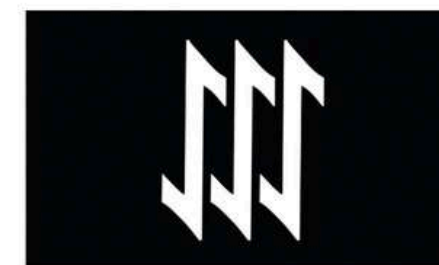

Groypers: "Groypers" are a term for followers of far-right, nazi influencer Nick Fuentes. Less of an organized group, it is a term given to adherents of the anti-immigrant, anti-semitic, and pro-white positions held by Nick Fuentes and pushed into the public. The primary function of Groypers is to push more "traditional conservatives" into a more radical, white supremacist sphere.

The Base: An accelerationist paramilitary nazi group formed by Rinaldo Nazario in 2018. They have similar aesthetics to Atomwaffen, but a different logo.

AFN: "Aryan Freedom Network" is a neo-nazi group present widespread across the US. The group has begun functioning as an umbrella organization, bringing in members from other groups like the Ku Klux Klan and outlaw bikers to function under their name. Outside of flyering neighborhoods with nazi propaganda, they operate mostly out of public view. They train often with firearms and make efforts to organize nationally across as many regions as possible.

GDL: "Goyim Defense League", founded by Jon Minadeo II, is a network of anti-semitic content creators who focus almost exclusively on anti-Jewish conspiracy theories and hatred. They primarily focus their efforts on online videos and live-streams, but are also active in-person, often flyering neighborhoods doing banner drops, harassing synagogues, and holding marches with swastika flags.

WLM: "White Lives Matter" is A white supremacist movement with chapters all around America and the globe, who focus their activism on low-risk tactics like stickers, flyers, and banners.

Three Percenters: This movement was created in 2008 with the false claim that only 3% of American forces fought the British in the revolutionary war, and therefore it would take only 3% of the population to overthrow the current US government. They are a far-right militia movement of anti-government extremists focused on gun ownership.

Proud Boys: A group of western chauvinists founded by Gavin McInnes in 2016. Although the Proud Boys aren't explicitly white supremacist, their emphasis on the "western" values and culture is a thinly veiled substitute for "White" values and culture and is used to deflect accusations of racism. Their ideology can be considered a form of proto-fascism as it contains elements of ultra-nationalism, traditionalism, misogyny, and social Darwinism. Their membership has different levels and members are encouraged to participate in street brawls. Level 1 is to exclaim "I am a proud western chauvinist and I refuse to apologize for creating the modern world." Level two is to recite 5 cereal brands while other members perform a "beat in." Level 3 is to get a tattoo of "PROUD BOY," and level 4 is to engage in violence for their cause, usually against LGBTQ or antifascists. They use the acronyms POYB (Proud of Your Boy) and FAFO (Fuck Around and Find Out) and can be spotted in black and yellow Fred Perry polo shirts, or other clothes with the black/yellow color combination. They also use the "okay" hand sign on a regular basis.

NOVA: "National Organization for Vital Action" is a white-supremacist organization with the goal of building a "nation within a nation" for whites only. They aim to connect as many neo-Nazi and white-supremacist groups and individuals as possible in order to create a broad network of racists in America. Their public actions mostly consist of banner drops and stickers. In private, the group has expressed their willingness to use violence to achieve their end goals of a whites only nation.

