STELLAR WEEKEND FOR CURRAGHMORE GRADUATES

Snazzytavi winning the Gr.3 Easter Handicap (1600m) at Te Rapa on Saturday. (Trish Dunell)

Curraghmore celebrated widespread success at the weekend with winners in three countries and highlighted by the domestic stakes of rising star Snazzytavi (NZ) (Tavistock).

Farm principal Gordon Cunningham bred and sold the gifted daughter of the late Tavistock who ended her campaign with an effortless victory in the Gr.3 Easter Handicap (1600m) at Ellerslie.

Trained by Graham Richardson and Rogan Norvall for Cambridge Stud, Snazzytavi has gone for a break with five wins and four placings, including a third in the Listed Wairarapa Breeders' Stakes (1600m), from 10 appearances.

Curraghmore graduate Lucy In The Sky (NZ) (No Nay Never) was also successful on the Group One undercard in Hong Kong on Sunday evening while Sir Grace (NZ) (Turn Me Loose)

continued his impressive progress in Queensland.

Snazzytavi is out of the Zabeel mare Ritzy Lady (NZ), who won six races including the Listed New Zealand St Leger (2500m) and finished runner-up in the Gr.2 Counties Cup (2100m).

“Roger James originally bought her (for A$340,000, Inglis Easter Sale) as a yearling for Mark and Jack Maronde, who raced her and they had some very good horses like La Sizeranne,” Cunningham said.

“The Marondes were winding down when I bought Ritzy Lady. It was a family that I was very familiar with going back to my Waikato Stud days.

“Thum’s Lil Sister (the third dam) was a mare imported from America who produced a very good filly by Pompeii Court called Clever Zoe.”

She won the Listed Debutante Stakes (1000m) and finished runner-up in the Gr.1 Lightning Stakes (1000m).

Ritzy Lady was subsequently sold and Snazzytavi was also to have gone to auction at New Zealand Bloodstock’s Ready to Run Sale before a forced change of plan.

“She was broken in and had all her development work at Jamie and Chanel Beatson’s Ohukia Lodge and I had her entered in the breeze-up sale at Karaka, she was progressing nicely but came up with a foot abscess,” Cunningham said.

“I was happy to put her into work and she won a trial nicely for Graham and Rogan as a two-year-old and I came to an arrangement with Brendan

Curraghmore principal Gordon Cunningham. (Trish Dunell)

Lindsay for him to buy her.

“She has been brilliantly trained and I’m thrilled that she’s proved to be such a good horse for Cambridge Stud, she looks very progressive and hopefully can go to another level.”

Meanwhile, No Nay Never three-year-old Lucy In The Sky opened his account at Sha Tin with victory over 1200 metres in just his third appearance from Me Tsui’s stable.

He was purchased out of Curraghmore’s 2022 draft at New Zealand Bloodstock’s National Yearling Sale for $60,000 and is a son of the Exceed And Excel mare Spiced, a half-sister to Gr.3 Manfred Stakes (1200m) winner Brave Mead (Brave Smash).

The lightly raced Sir Grace rounded off a top weekend for the farm when he won his third race on the bounce from five starts for local trainer Warwick Satherley with victory over 1600m at Rockhampton on Sunday.

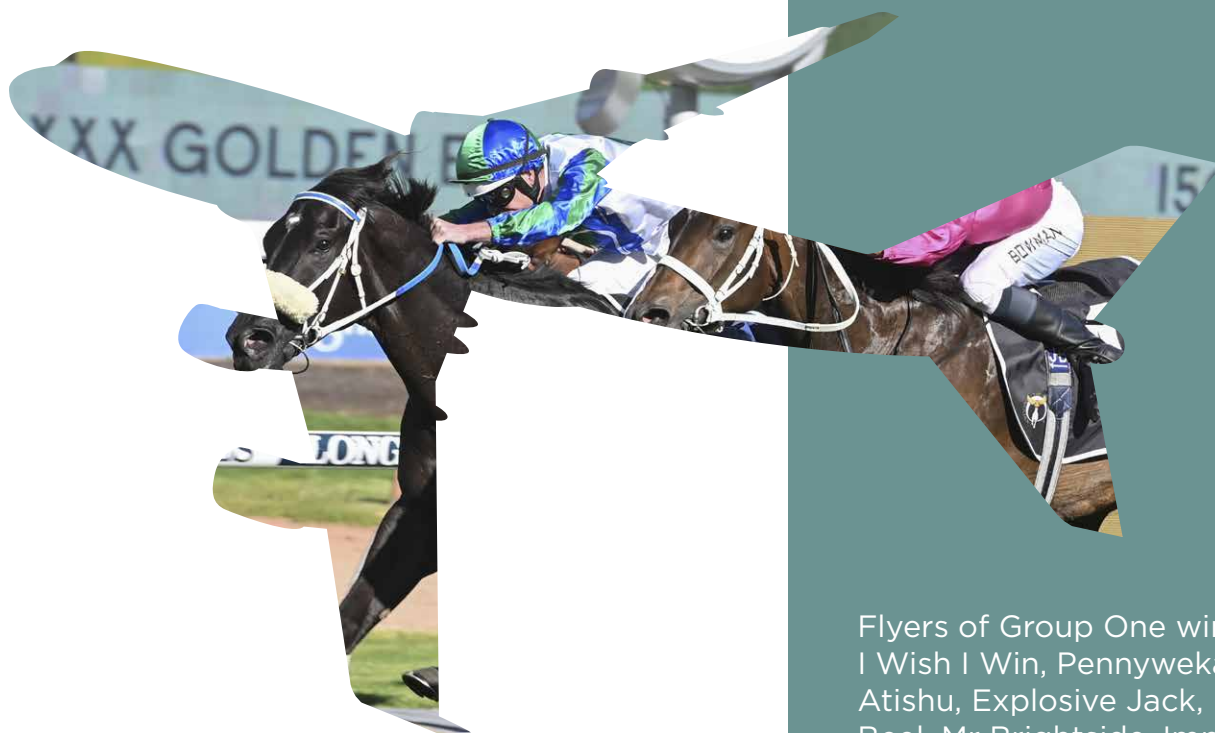

The Cunningham-bred son of Turn Me Loose was a $34,000 NZB National Online Yearling Sale purchase and is out of the Sir Percy mare Lady Grace (NZ), a granddaughter of multiple Group winner Frenetic (NZ) (Truly Vain).

Lady Grace has a yearling filly by Eminent and is back in foal to him after producing a daughter of Armory last season.

Where Winning Begins

RAE TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF LOCAL CLIMATE

Ruakaka's drier climate will play a key role in winter racing in the coming months, and local trainer Kenny Rae is looking forward to competing on his home turf at this Wednesday's meeting.

"Most of our horses will be racing up here for the next three or four months, there's nothing better than racing on your home track. No travelling for the horses and saves costs for the owners," he said.

Rae, who trains in partnership with daughter Krystal Williams, operates the stable's northern base and among his mid-week contingent is a promising type in (Shamexpress).

The Shamexpress filly has produced a second and third-placed efforts from as many starts and will step out in the Windsor Park Stud silks when contesting the Entain – NZB Insurance Pearl Series (1200m).

"She's been racing very well, her first start we used as a trial and she went well. She's a lovely filly, probably six months away from her peak, but very level-headed," Rae said.

"She'll be out the back with that draw (12) in the running and she probably needs 1400m, but she jars up, so we've taken it very quietly with her. At this stage we'll just leave her at 1200m."

Stablemate Surf Queen (NZ) (Iffraaj) is eligible for the lucrative Pearl Series bonus in the maiden fillies' and mares' event and will have Craig Grylls in the saddle.

"Surf Queen is a bit of an enigma, she won a trial at Ruakaka by about seven-and-a-half lengths and last-start I put down to the rock-hard track at Pukekohe. Her past two runs on wetter tracks were good," Rae said.

"The track's good at the moment and they are watering it, but we would like a bit of rain for her.”

Mischief Managed (NZ) (Derryn), a placegetter behind Pennyweka (NZ) (Satono Aladdin) in last season’s Gr.1 New Zealand Oaks (2400m), will strike her favoured course on Wednesday in the Rating 65 event over 2100m.

“She’s at her peak now and was similar at this time of the year as a three-year-old where she ran third in the Oaks. To be fair though, aside from the winner it wasn’t an overly strong field for a Group One,” Rae said.

“But, on her work, she should win on Wednesday. She doesn’t love a rock-hard track either, but the track is in lovely order, the track manager should be given a 10/10 for the way it’s going.”

Formerly the perennial bridesmaid, Dancing Dream (NZ) (Contributer) was straight into the winner’s circle in a fresh-state last-start and has finished in the first three at each of her eight starts at Ruakaka. Most notably was the Contributor filly’s second placing behind subsequent Group One winner Crocetti (NZ) (Zacinto) in the Gr.3

Northland Breeders’ Stakes (1200m).

“She’s been placed over 1400m, but she’s been placed at just about any distance. She was just about the best maidener in the country until she won, she finished second behind Crocetti at Ruakaka. We just need more stakes races to be run here for her,” Rae quipped.

“She’s done very well since her win, I was going to run her at Te Rapa in the Cambridge Breeders’ Stakes (Gr.3, 1200m) but Jasmine (Fawcett, jockey) and I decided to go to for the easier option in a 1400m with a home track advantage.

“Heart Of Alladin will line-up in that race as well and he was disappointing last-start at Matamata, both times he’s gone there he’s hung and not finished off.

“He pulled up well and we’ve taken the gear off this time, he is a horse with ability and goes okay at Ruakaka. He’s just created his own bad luck at the races.”

Completing Rae’s Ruakaka runners is Tide And Time (NZ) (Time Test)

in the other Rating 65 1400m event sponsored by Porthouse Bar & Eatery, who will have their filly Porthouse Lady (NZ) (Rageese) running in the Listed Berkley Stud Champagne Stakes (1200m) at Riccarton Park on Saturday.

“Tide And Time has had about 10 days off and we’ve bought her back in, she’s working well and looking good. She went no good on a wet track at Tauranga and Sam Weatherley (jockey) blamed himself the start before and told me he was too patient on her,” Rae said.

“The 1400m may test her in a fresh state, and I’ll blame myself if it does.”

After his local meeting, Rae will travel to Christchurch where Williams handles the South Island-based runners, and juvenile Porthouse Lady is one of several engaged at Riccarton over the weekend, as well as jumping prospect Leitrim Lad (NZ) (Tavistock) (trained by Eamonn Green).

“We just sent Eamonn’s horse Leitrim Lad down to Riccarton for some open handicap races, then he’ll be getting ready for his jumping career. It’s good down there too, once the horses are there, they don’t have to go far to get to the races,” Rae said.

Stable stalwart The Buffer (NZ) (Reliable Man) will also feature in the Avon City Ford Easter Cup (1600m), after he collected an 11th career success at Timaru last Thursday.

“I can only take credit on paper for his win, but I shouldn’t, he’s Krystal’s horse. He’ll be in the open mile there on Saturday,” Rae said.

PRINCESS ELLY POPULAR WINNER AT WANGANUI

Princess Elly winning at Wanganui on Saturday. (Race Images Palmerston North)

The Craig Ivil-trained Princess Elly (NZ) (Sacred Falls) was a popular figure at Wanganui racecourse last Saturday when she rewarded punters when taking out the Spooner Toy & Hood Ltd 1600.

The four-year-old mare had been very consistent in her previous six outings and was duly backed into $3.50 favouritism for Saturday's contest, which she comfortably won by a length over Champagne Sunday (NZ) (Vespa).

Ivil shared punters' optimism and was pleased with his mare's performance.

"She ran well," he said. "She has really only had a couple of bad runs – one was when she had a really hard track at Riccarton and the other was when she got interfered with at Wanganui last start.

"She has always shown a bit, we have taken our time with her and let her develop."

Bred by Waikato Stud, Princess Elly was purchased by part-owner Mary Colman for $2,300 out of Bella Vinci Limited's 2021 Gavelhouse Plus National Online Yearling Sale draft, and she has proven to be a shrewd investment.

"Mary Colman used to be heavily involved in the trotting and used to be the President of the Kapiti Coast Harness Racing Club," Ivil said. "She races Princess Elly with my son's partner Emma."

The duo have plenty to look forward to with their mare, however, Ivil said the daughter of Sacred Falls will shortly head for a spell before returning in the spring with a view to competing over further ground.

"She will have a couple of more runs and then she will have a break over winter. We will find a (rating) 75 for her somewhere and see how we go. She will then get ready for the spring," he said.

"The further the better with her. The Zabeel will kick in with time, she is just not quite strong enough yet. She will run a mile and a half uphill.

"We will poke our way along and see where we end up. She will definitely win races over ground in some form of grade."

Ivil is also enjoying having his daughter, former Racing.com presenter Jayne Ivil, back in New Zealand with her partner Brad Taylor and their children Pippa and Luke.

"We have got five of them (grandchildren) now and one on the way," Ivil said. "It will be good that they can grow up together and be around each other."

CHATAHOOCHEE TO TARGET HAWKE'S BAY SPRING CARNIVAL

Trainer Debbie Sweeney has her sights set on the Hawke's Bay Spring Carnival with her exciting gelding Chatahoochee (NZ) (Reliable Man) following his pleasing runner-up performance behind Snazzytavi (NZ) (Tavistock) in last Saturday's Gr.3 Easter Handicap (1600m) at Te Rapa.

The five-year-old son of Reliable Man was having his first tilt at stakes level, having won six of his previous 12 raceday starts.

"It was a really good run, but he was just met by a better horse on the day, the other horse (Snazzytavi) was very smart," Sweeney said. "He tried really hard and I am very happy.

"It was a reasonable field, so it was good to see him measure up against that class. He is only very lightly tried, he has had 13 starts and only been unplaced three times."

Chatahoochee will now likely have one more run before heading for a spell in preparation for what could be a big spring.

"He will probably have another run in three weeks at Counties, there is an Open 1500m, and then he will probably head to the paddock," Sweeney said.

"I would say we will target the Hawke's Bay Carnival with him. He is still a very green horse and keeps on improving, and his racing manners are getting better every time.

"I have got a lot of confidence going forward that he is going to measure up against the better ones."

Earlier on the Te Rapa card, stablemate Kiwi Man (NZ) (Reliable Man) was victorious in the Cambridge Equine Hospital 2400 under stable apprentice Ngakau Hailey.

"He is an out-and-out stayer. He has been hard to place with trying to get the right distances for him," Sweeney said.

"I am not too sure what we are going to do with him, whether he will have another run or go to the paddock, we will just see how he is in the next couple of days.

"We are possibly looking at the Rotorua Cup (Listed, 2200m) but more than likely he will go out. He has been in work for a long time so probably needs to have a break before we get him back towards the end of winter and getting him ready for spring time.

"I would like to see him in a couple of the Cups races next year because he can stay all day."

A day prior, Hailey was also in the saddle when the Sweeney-trained Ranger (NZ) (Ghibellines) broke his winning drought in the Mount Maunganui RSA 1600.

"It was good to see Ranger back in winning form. I think it has been 3.5 years since he last won a race," Sweeney said.

"We were more than likely going to retire him if he didn't go well on Friday, so it was good that he got the job done.

"It was nice that Ngakau rode him as well because when Ngakau first started riding he rode him a fair bit.

"He tried really hard and hopefully he can sneak another one in there somewhere."

FORMER NORTHERN GALLOPERS MAKING THEIR MARK IN THE SOUTH

Former northerners Loftys Gift (NZ) (Ghibellines) and Medina (NZ) (American Pharoah) are starting to leave their mark in the south, with the pair securing a winning double for trainer Robert Dennis at Wingatui on Sunday.

Medina was just having her third start for Dennis in the Liquorland Mosgiel 65 1400m, having previously been trained by his former employer Andrew Forsman in Cambridge.

The American Pharoah mare jumped away well but couldn't find the front and was parked out three-wide for much of the race. She finally found the parked position outside Choux Macher (NZ) (Jimmy Choux) with 600m to go and showed her tenacity down the straight when going head-to-head with her rival, and got the bob at the post to win by half a head.

Dennis knew the four-year-old was better than her two previous midfield finishes for him and was pleased to see her fulfil her potential on Sunday.

"I know this horse well from the Forsman Stable and I know that she has got good ability," he said. "She has had a couple of unlucky runs in her first and second starts for me.

"Donovan (Cooper, jockey) certainly took luck out of the equation. It was very tough to sit three-wide on speed and fight off what I think is a handy enough horse in Choux Macher."

Later on the card Dennis secured the double courtesy of Loftys Gift in the Otago Daily Times 65 2200m.

Previously trained in Cambridge by Shaune Ritchie and Colm Murray, the five-year-old mare has now had three starts for Dennis for two wins.

The daughter of Ghibellines was set to race in Christchurch last week, but Dennis was pleased he held off and targeted Sunday's Wingatui meeting instead.

"She was entered at Riccarton last week and I thought she would go a good race there, but we opted to wait another week and it paid dividends," he said.

"It was a good effort back in the field and it was a great finish from her, which was good to see."

Dennis has been pleased with what he has seen from Loftys Gift in the last couple of months and believes she can quickly add to her win tally.

"I haven't had her for too long, it would be only 10 weeks, and we have only given her three starts," he said. "She won the start after backing up two days later, so she seems pretty tough and versatile.

"I haven't mapped out a plan for her yet. She is up in grade now and it becomes a little trickier to find the right race. She handles a wet track so she should be going through into the winter a bit. I think she has a bright future."

With Southland racing set to go into winter hibernation, Ascot Park-based Dennis said travelling to Otago or Canterbury proves no concern.

"The last meeting in Southland is the 12th of May so we will have to travel up to Otago and Canterbury, but it is par for the course," he said. "I have gone through the calendar and there are enough options there to justify racing horses through the winter."

Dennis was also pleased to pick up a runner-up result at the meeting with the Waikato Stud-bred and raced Missoni (NZ) (Ocean Park) in the Grand Casino Maiden 1600m.

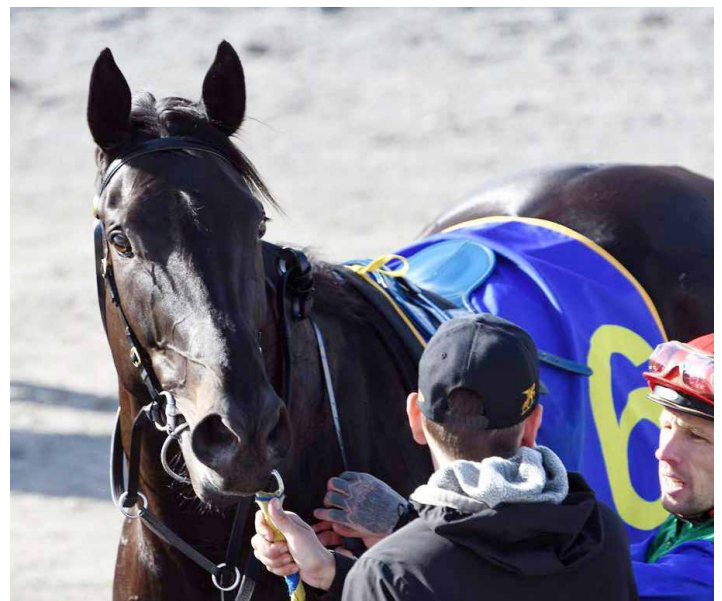

"She is very nice filly by Ocean Park who has come a long way this prep," he said. "She is going out for a spell now and I think she will do a good job for us and the Waikato team next season."

Meanwhile, looking ahead to weekend racing, Dennis will make the trek north to Riccarton on Saturday with a pair of runners, headlined by impressive last start winner Great Time (NZ) (Time Test) in the Listed Berkley Stud Champagne Stakes (1200m).

"She has ticked along very nicely since her five-length win at Riverton. I think she is a very smart horse and all is well with her," Dennis said.

"Sacred Dream will drop back to 1800m from 2600m last time. I think she should be very competitive."

AUSTRALIA BECKONS WEWILLROCK AFTER WANGANUI ROMP

Classy sprinter Wewillrock (NZ) (El Roca) was a winner and black-type placegetter in Sydney last winter, and a return to Australia is looming large on his horizon after an easy win in Saturday's Carpet Maintenance & Cleaning (1200m) at Wanganui.

The well-performed El Roca gelding was sent out as a $2.60 favourite for the sprint feature and lived right up to those high expectations, leading all the way and kicking away from his outclassed opponents down the straight to win by three lengths.

"That puts a bit of pressure on now," said Leah Zydenbos, who trains in partnership with Guy Lowry. "We love supporting New Zealand racing and so do the owners, but there's some good money available in Australia coming up, so we've got some thinking to do. There are a few suitable races coming up in Sydney in about three or four weeks' time."

Wewillrock was a multiple stakes placegetter as a three-year-old in the Gr.3 Almanzor Trophy (1200m) and Gr.3 Cambridge Breeders' Stakes (1200m), then headed to Australia around this time last year and recorded a second at Rosehill, third in the Listed June Stakes (1100m) at Randwick and a win in a Benchmark 88 handicap at Randwick in July.

Unplaced in the Gr.2 Foxbridge Plate (1200m) and Listed Lightning Handicap (1200m) in the first two appearances of his five-year-old season, he showed more promising signs with a second in the Listed City of Napier Sprint (1200m) at Otaki on April 13. At Wanganui two weeks later, he was right back on the top of his game.

"It's just great to see a good horse like him back to his best," Zydenbos said. "He can sometimes take a while to get fit, but when he's on his game, he's really on."

Wewillrock carried 60kg on Saturday and was ridden by Jonathan Riddell, who has now guided him to three wins and three placings from eight rides.

"He's a fair animal and one of my favourites," Riddell said. "He's a better horse than what he was racing against today, so it was good to get the result."

"I think Guy might have liked me to take a sit today, but he's a pretty competitive horse and I would have had to hold him back to do that. I also might have ended up stuck behind another horse coming back in my face."

"He was travelling well all the way, and I was just hoping staying inside was the right move. He kicked strongly."

FREEZE FRAME TURNS THE TABLES IN SUMI REMATCH

Two weeks after finishing second to Sumi (NZ) (Atlante) at the previous Te Rapa meeting, Freeze Frame (NZ) (Vadamos) reversed that result in Saturday's rematch with the talented Taranaki raider.

The Hutton Contracting (1400m) was the second clash this month for the pair, who had finished first and second over the same course and distance on April 14. Sumi beat Freeze Frame by half a length that day, with the remainder of the field another four lengths away.

Sumi's weight increased from 54.5kg to 56kg for Saturday's rematch, with Freeze Frame rising only slightly from 54kg to 54.5kg. That swing in the weights, combined with a well-timed ride from Warren Kennedy and a potent finishing burst down the Te Rapa straight, propelled Freeze Frame to an emphatic win.

Sumi took up a handy position in third through the early stages of the $40,000 race, keeping a close watch on the front-running Fonteyn (NZ) (Swiss Ace). Freeze Frame settled much further back in eighth, more than half a dozen lengths behind the leader.

Freeze Frame was badly blocked behind a wall of horses early in the home straight, but Kennedy eventually spotted an opening and launched his run. Freeze Frame charged home with a push-button sprint, joining Karman Line (NZ) (Myboycharlie) and Sumi in the final 50m and catching them right on the finish line. He beat Karman Line by a head, with Sumi another nose away in third.

"That swing in the weights made a difference today," Te Akau Racing's racing manager Reece Trumper said. "It was a good ride by Warren. He's a horse that you can't bustle early – he needs time to get into his rhythm and get breathing. Fortunately he got the gap at the right time today and was good enough to get through it."

Freeze Frame was bought for $80,000 by David Ellis from the yearling draft of Rich Hill Stud at Karaka in 2021. The Vadamos gelding has now had 18 starts for five wins, nine placings and $145,910 in stakes.

The four-year-old has a particular affinity for 1400m, where his nine starts have produced two wins and six placings, while his seven appearances at Te Rapa have yielded two wins and three placings.

"He might not be ideally suited to open handicaps just yet, but the way he's placed at the weights in Rating 75 company meant we had to run him in this open race today," Trumper said. "He's certainly going to continue to get better with time, and I think he'll get up over more ground too."

THOOZA SHINES ON DEBUT AT TE RAPA

A pair of regally-bred fillies featured in the finish of the Cambridge Raceway 2YO (1200m) on Saturday at Te Rapa, with Thooza (NZ) (Almanzor) coming out on top on debut over Sister Cynane (I Am Invincible).

Almanzor filly Thooza is out of Sea Goddess (NZ) (Darci Brahma), the third foal of two-time Horse Of The Year heroine Seachange (NZ) (Cape Cross), while Sister Cynane, a daughter of I Am Invincible, was a $1.3million yearling purchase with the credentials of Group One-winning mare Prompt Response (Beneteau) on her pedigree page.

With two recent trial victories under her belt, Sister Cynane was an overwhelming $1.70 favourite in the juvenile contest, with Thooza her closest rival at $8.60 after her trial form was franked with promising gelding Yaldi (NZ) (Ardrossan), who she ran second to, performing at stakes level at Flemington on ANZAC day.

Contending with an outside draw (10), jockey Warren Kennedy showed intent early aboard Thooza, who carried the prominent colours of owners Cambridge Stud, and worked to take up the pacemaking role ahead of Sister Cynane, who was sporting the silks of Australian force Hermitage Thoroughbreds.

The favourite cruised up alongside Thooza at the 300m and looked likely, but the Tony Pike-trained filly kicked strongly to power clear on the inside by $\frac{3}{4}$ lengths, with a further 2-1/4 lengths to the Peter and Dawn Williams' pair of Money Penny (NZ) (Proisir) and Lachie (NZ) (Belardo).

Cambridge-based Pike was wary of the wide draw on debut, as well as the short-priced favourite, but was thrilled to see his filly deliver at her first attempt.

"That was our intention (to go forward) from the wide gate, she's been good out of the gates at the trials and I thought it was probably the only way to beat the favourite," Pike said.

"It was a good tough win as the favourite came up to beat her and she's drawn away over the last 100m of the race.

"There's a bit of reputation to live up too (with Seachange), but she's done a great job and certainly improved through all of her trials. She can go have a nice little break now and I'm sure there will be some nice races for her in the spring.

"She's a filly with a future, with a bit more maturity on her side."

Thooza digs deep under Warren Kennedy to score on debut in the Cambridge Raceway 2YO (1200m) on Saturday at Te Rapa. (Trish Dunell)

Kennedy took out the first on the card aboard Wexford Stables' filly Tomodachi (NZ) (Tarzino) and was able to hold out the Matamata operation's charge in the second (Sister Cynane) to capture a race-to-race double.

"It always helps when they've got that gate speed as a two-year-old, everyone wants to be in the first four. She (Thooza) jumped out really well, I was able to get ahead of them and dictate the pace," Kennedy said.

"I saw the favourite loom up at the 300m and she passed me with a bit in hand, so it was a testament to this filly's courage to pick herself up off the floor and get the win. She really wanted it.

"When she comes back next term, she's one to pencil in definitely."

Sea Goddess (raced as Our Sea Goddess in Australia) won three races in New Zealand and Victoria in her nine-start career, and Thooza is her second foal, with another filly out of in-form sire Almanzor born last September.

The Oaks Stud offered Thooza for sale at Karaka 2023, and she was purchased by Brendan & Jo Lindsay for $155,000, with $20,125 returned on that investment at her first start.
