STAR FILLY DAMASK ROSE BLOOMING FOR MILAN PARK

Exciting filly Damask Rose. (Kenton Wright (Race Images))

High-class three-year-old Damask Rose (NZ) (Savabeel) has powered her way to the top of the markets for New Zealand's biggest pots of gold.

The daughter of Savabeel is the $3 favourite for the $1.5 million TAB Karaka Millions 3YO (1600m) and $8 co-favourite for the $3.5 million NZB Kiwi (1500m).

The Mark Walker and Sam Bergerson-trained representative was bred by Tony Rider's Milan Park, who are continuing to breed from her mother, the well-related Flying Spur mare Sombreuil.

Damask Rose was offered at New Zealand Bloodstock's National Yearling Sale and was knocked down to Te Akau's David Ellis for $200,000.

Her age group win at Ellerslie on Saturday was her second from four appearances and was also runner-up in the Karaka Millions 2YO (1200m) and third in the Gr.3 Gold Trail Stakes (1200m).

Milan Park sold Damask Rose's sister earlier this year at Karaka to bloodstock agent Phill Cataldo on behalf of Australian interests for $200,000.

"Sombreuil has got a colt by Super Seth at foot, and she went back to Savabeel again," Rider said.

His Waikato nursery has been happy to sell fillies out of Sombreuil as they retained her daughter Provence (NZ), also by Savabeel.

Trained by Stephen Marsh, she has won three times from a handful of starts and finished second in the Listed Flying Handicap (1200m) earlier this year to be a valuable future addition to the broodmare band.

“Stephen is pretty positive that Provence can pick up some more black type this season,” Rider said.

Her dam Sombreuil was a private purchase from Trelawney Stud and is out of the Gr.2 Matamata Breeders’ Stakes (1200m) winner Te Akau Rose and the family of the Gr.1 Doncaster Handicap (1600m) winner and sire Brutal.

“Flying Spur mares go well with Savabeel and we bought her to go to him and it’s worked out very well,” Rider said.

Meanwhile, Milan Park will offer six colts during the upcoming Book 1 session of New Zealand Bloodstock National Yearling Sale at Karaka.

“We’re very happy and we’ve got a few standouts and hopefully we’ll be rewarded,” Rider said.

Among their top offerings is Lot 30, a son of Farnan and the Sooboog mare Jessica Rabbit who is from the family of the late, great stallion Not A Single Doubt, multiple top-flight winner and sire King’s Legacy and Gr.1 Flight Stakes (1600m) winner Oohood (I Am Invincible).

“He’s a really nice sort and we’ve got a really good son of Shocking out of Pussy O’Reilly and a lovely Russian Revolution colt who is the first foal of Miss Aotearoa,” Rider said.

Lot 227 is the Shocking colt who is a half-brother to the three-time Group Three winner and Gr.1 New Zealand Oaks (2400m) runner-up Positivity (NZ) (Almanzor).

Their dam is the O’Reilly mare Pussy O’Reilly (NZ), winner of the Listed Flying Handicap (1400m) and also second in the Gr.1 Tarzino Trophy (1400m).

The Russian Revolution colt is Lot 110 and his dam Miss Aotearoa (NZ), by Per Incanto, won the Gr.3 Gold Trail

Stakes (1200m) and is a half-sister to the Gr.2 Matriarch Stakes (2000m) winner Oceanex (NZ) (Ocean Park) and the Gr.3 Rouch Habit Plate (2000m) winner Amexed (NZ) (Pentire).

Milan Park will also offer sons of Almanzor (Lot 92), Savabeel (Lot 356) and Rebel Dane (Lot 562).

NEWS IN BRIEF

Begg’s mare to miss autumn

In-form trainer Grahame Begg has confirmed Niance (NZ) (Swiss Ace) will play no part in the Autumn Carnival after an untimely setback following an accident in the paddock.

The emerging lightly raced mare was a last-start winner of the Gr.3 How Now Stakes (1200m, $2.70F) at Caulfield, before being sent for a break, but will miss potential Group One targets in Melbourne and Sydney early next year.

“She’s out of play at the moment, hopefully we’ll be able to get her up for the spring,” Begg said on RSN927 on Monday morning.

“The form’s been absolutely outstanding around her ... it’s disappointing but hopefully everything will be good with her and we’ll get her back in one piece.”

Raced by Ace Bloodstock, the five-year-old daughter of Swiss Ace has won six of her 10 career starts – just six of which have been in Australia – and taken home nearly A$350,000 in earnings.

FOUR TIMER FOR COOPER AT ASCOT PARK

Donovan Cooper has made quite the impression in the southern jockey ranks since he moved down from the North Island earlier this year, and he continued his good run of form at Ascot Park on Saturday when scoring a four timer.

The expat South African's previous best day in the saddle was a treble for Kelvin Tyler at Wingatui, and he was once again in the winner's stall for the Riverton trainer on Saturday.

The Canterbury-based hoop capped a memorable day aboard Reprobate (NZ) (Ace High) for Tyler, who he was riding for the first time in the Southland Honda Handicap (1600m).

"That (Reprobate) is the one that had me the most on my nerves because coming into the straight I had looked for a run and a gap opened up in front of me and he hesitated, so I opted to put him back on the rail and then that gap opened up and he was willing to take it and accelerated through it beautifully," Cooper said.

Cooper began the meeting with a bang, taking out the first two races for local trainer Robert Dennis aboard Medina (NZ) (American Pharoah) and On Song (NZ) (The Bold One) respectively.

"Medina was coming into the race really fresh, which was absolutely fantastic," he said. "For her to accelerate like that off being a bit keen in behind the pace early on was great, she stormed home beautifully.

"I have always rated On Song. When I cantered her down to the start, she felt like the day I won with her at Riverton."

Cooper was hopeful aboard his other winning mount, Reverberations (Real Impact), with trainer John Blackadder oozing confidence ahead of the World Solar Handicap (2200m).

"It was my first time riding him," Cooper said. "Mr Blackadder was very confident in the parade ring, all he told me was to find the right run and it panned out exceptionally well."

Cooper was rapt to get the quartet of wins, but said his feat took plenty of time to sink in.

"It had only sunk in on Sunday afternoon when I was driving back from Invercargill," he said. "I just wanted to go out there, have fun, and be confident. It was great to get the results for the trainers who have supported me, trainers are the backbone to our careers."

Cooper is lauding his move south, believing it has helped his career, which had stagnated in the north after coming back from injury last year.

"It's been an absolute brilliant move," he said. "I still feel like I have got a lot to learn in racing, but it is going well down here.

"It does look like I am (permanently based in South Island)

now. I am with Ross Beckett, he and the Equine Academy have an agreement in place for me to be under him."

Cooper has 16 wins to his credit so far this season, placing him fifth on the apprentice jockeys' premiership, and he is keen to add to that tally at Ashburton on Wednesday.

"I am one short of a full book," he said. "I have got quite a few nice rides, I quite like Naval Command (in the Carston Racing Remembering Megan 1400).

"He has come off a break. His last run was exceptional - he was very green in the early stages, and he romped home, so I was quite ecstatic with him."

TRENTHAM TRIP IN THE OFFING FOR OUR ECHO

Balcainr galloper Our Echo (NZ) (Echoes Of Heaven) will build towards a potential northern assignment at Ashburton on Wednesday, taking his place in the McCrea Painters And Decorators Trainers Challenge (1300m).

A son of Echoes Of Heaven, Our Echo has found plenty of success at the champagne turf over several seasons, highlighted by his victory in the Listed Lightning Handicap (1200m) in March. In his eight-year-old year, the gelding resumed well behind Third Decree in October, but didn't show his best in the feature sprints over New Zealand Cup Week.

"We tried to bring him up for Cup Week again this year and it just didn't happen," Frye said. "To be fair, his best form is usually around Christmas and New Year, and we are hoping that he'll bounce back then.

"He's in on Wednesday, which is a nice step-up race for him, if he goes competitive enough, he'll go to the Timaru Cup. Hopefully then, he can force his way into the Thorndon Mile.

"He just seems to enjoy it up at Trentham, his form has always been pretty solid. If it's not for the Thorndon, we'll find something else for him to head up there for."

A race he finished a creditable eighth in this year, the Gr.1 Harcourts Thorndon Mile (1600m) will be run on the 11th of January, a fortnight after the Timaru meeting.

Frye will be represented by a pair of other runners at Ashburton, with Bracero (NZ) (War Decree) aiming to improve on a narrow second placing to Watergate (NZ) (Contributer) on the Riccarton Synthetic last start.

"It was a really good run, a tough effort as he had to go a long way from home," Frye said.

"I think that's the way this horse has to be ridden, once you get going, you have to keep going with him. He's one of those horses that won their maiden too soon, he won his first start and he just didn't know much.

"This time around, he's so much more consistent and mature in his work, so hopefully he can bring that forward to his racing this time. He's got heaps of ability, but just lacks that bit of application."

The son of War Decree will take his place in The Tav Travellers (1400m) in the hands of Leah Hemi, who will also take the reins on stablemates Our Echo and Miraqua (NZ) (Ocean Park), the latter starting in the Carston Racing Remembering Megan (1400m).

Miraqua is also coming off the all-weather track, where he finished close-up in fourth behind Flower Moon (NZ) (All Too Hard).

"Both of those two went on the synthetic because the money was up and the fields were spot-on for their side of the preparation," Frye said.

"Hopefully we'll ride him forward this time, he seems to be a bit of a sook in amongst them and has had a bit of interference in one or two of those starts and been a bit unlucky. We're hoping to get on speed, and with a clear passage, he can show his worth there.

"Leah Hemi will ride them all and she gets on well with the team, so I'm pleased to have her on."

OPAWA JACK TOPS DOUBLE FOR BAMBRY

Chrissy Bambry collected an winning double with her talented stayers at Trentham on Sunday, headlined by Opawa Jack (NZ) (War Decree) in the Taylors Property Plus 2100.

The son of War Decree jumped positively under Kate Hercoc and found a handy position early in the trail of Sailor Jack (NZ) (Jakkalberry), while race-favourite Manifique (NZ) (Savabeel) settled at the back. The speed was only leisurely as they streamed down the back straight and turning for home, Opawa Jack and Sailor Jack put the pressure on and left the rest of the field chasing.

The pair fought it out all the way down the long Trentham straight with Manifique the sole runner to make up ground, and although she got impressively close, Opawa Jack held on to score by a half-neck, with Sailor Jack only a half-head back in third.

Bambry was thrilled with her gelding, but admitted she wasn't expecting the win to come leading into Sunday's meeting.

"I wasn't that confident to be fair, I told his owners in Christchurch not to fly up because I didn't think he was a winning chance, so they've proved me wrong," she said.

"We'll just take it race-by-race with him, but there are some nice summer cups for him."

Bred by Brian and Lorraine Anderton of White Robe Lodge, Opawa Jack was purchased for $40,000 out of their draft at the 2021 Karaka Yearling Sales and has gone on to earn $138,500 with seven wins from 28 starts for Bambry and the remainder of his ownership group.

Bambry was back in the winner's circle in quick succession at Trentham, winning the following race with progressive stayer Phats (NZ) (Embellish).

The Embellish gelding performed solidly through his last preparation, earning a late three-year-old campaign across the ditch, where he finished third in a pair of lucrative age-group staying contests in Victoria.

After returning to his homeland, Phats put together three solid performances over a mile before stepping up to his favoured middle-distance range in the Hardy Trade Supply 2100, where he started a deserved $3.70 favourite.

In the hands of flying hoop Masa Hashizume, the gelding settled off the fence in midfield and cruised along behind a solid tempo. One of his main dangers, Mr Twinkletoes (NZ) (Zacinto), stormed to the lead at the top of the straight and set a task for Phats, but in the final strides, he powered over the top to take the victory by a long neck.

The race was one of six automatic qualifying races for the $350,000 Remutaka Classic (2100m) to be run back at the course during Wellington Cup Week, a place Bambry intends to accept with her promising galloper.

"He's in the Remutaka now with the golden ticket, so he'll probably go to the Marton Cup (Listed, 2200m) two weeks before," she said.

A homebred galloper, Phats is owned by Bambry alongside her parents Tony and Judith, and Luca and Simon Luoni. The success was his second in 18 starts, surpassing $100,000 in stakes. — LOVERACING.NZ News Desk

BOOMING RETURN BY BELLE'S ECHO

Belle's Echo (NZ) (Echoes Of Heaven) made a booming return in her six-year-old season at Trentham on Sunday, putting away a tidy field of sprinters in the Blue Star Christmas Cup (1200m).

The daughter of Echoes Of Heaven had been a model of consistency in her last campaign, but was sent for a spell by trainer Lisa Latta following a couple of uncharacteristic performances through the winter period on unsuitable tracks.

Latta gave her a quiet trial at Foxton in mid-November to prepare for the open sprint contest, where she was underrated in the market ($8) despite an outstanding course record, with three wins and two minor placings from seven attempts at Trentham.

In-form front-runner Idyllic jumped the $2.50 favourite and went straight to her customary leading role, but The Stony One (Pierro) was immediately to her outer and didn't allow the mare any comfort in the early stages. Meanwhile, Ace Lawson-Carroll was biding his time at the tail aboard Belle's Echo, who still had them all ahead of her at the 300m mark.

The Stony One looked to have the better of Idyllic (No Nay Never) and Is That So (NZ) (Sufficient) was hot on their heels, but it was Belle's Echo who came with a scorching turn-of-foot down the outside to put them all away, powering through the line to score by a length to Is That So in a sharp time of 1.07.62.

Latta indicated the performance had come as a surprise, but was a very pleasing result for the stable.

"I didn't really expect that honestly, her coat is nowhere near there and I thought she would improve a lot with the run, but she's won very well," she said.

"It was very satisfying to watch, especially after those two races at the end of her last preparation on really heavy tracks, where she just didn't see the distances out.

"She holds a nomination for the Telegraph (Gr.1, 1200m) but she's not really a weight-for-age horse at the moment, we'd be silly to run in that. We're going to have to go back to the drawing board and try and map something out for her, the biggest thing really is getting some black-type with her at some stage this preparation."

The six-year-old is out of a Woodbury Lad mare in Woodbury Belle (NZ), who herself was highly-successful on the track, winning 13 races and placing in the Gr.3 Foxbridge Plate (1200m) for Myles Oldershaw, who co-bred and co-owns Belle's Echo.

Belle's Echo is fashioning an impressive record of her own, with Sunday's victory her fifth from 26 starts and over $150,000 in stakes to her credit.

Latta was in the winner's circle earlier on the card with Keeping Time (NZ) (Time Test), a deserved maiden winner in the Pullman Melbourne City Centre 1600 after a confident front-running ride by apprentice jockey Amber Riddell.

"She was very good as well, Amber was going to be caught wide and she used her initiative by going forward and got some really soft sectionals," Latta said.

"She put the pressure on when she turned in and she's fought right to the line. I think once she gets over 2000m, she'll be even better."

A mare co-bred and raced by Little Avondale Stud, Keeping Time is a daughter of Time Test out of talented race-mare Can't Keeper Down (NZ) (Keeper), a four-race winner and placegetter in the Gr.1 New Zealand Oaks (2400m), Gr.3 Eulogy Stakes (1600m) and Gr.2 Awapuni Gold Cup (2100m). – LOVERACING.NZ News Desk

FIELD OF GOLD BACK ON TOP OF THE PODIUM

It's been a while between drinks for the connections of Field Of Gold (Starspangledbanner), but the talented galloper looked back to his impressive best when taking out the JR N Berkett 1400 at Trentham on Sunday.

The big-striding chestnut was among the top three-year-olds of his year, and in the care of Tony Pike, he won the Gr.2 Waikato Guineas (2000m), after placing in the Gr.3 War Decree Stakes (1600m), Gr.1 New Zealand 2000 Guineas (1600m) and Gr.2 Auckland Guineas (1600m).

Field Of Gold struggled to replicate that form in the following season while still posting a win in March of 2023, his last time in the winner's circle before heading to Bill Thurlow's stable. In five starts last season for the Waverley horseman, he put together a trio of good placings.

After trialling twice in preparation, it all came together again in the Rating 75 contest, where his 62kg impost was decreased by Sima Mxothwa's fourkilogram claim. Friendless in the market, Field Of Gold started at $26 on TAB Fixed Odds and raced three-wide for much of the 1400m journey, while Knight's Realm (NZ) (Castledale) controlled the tempo and gave the field something to chase in the straight.

Race-favourite Scouser (NZ) (Contributer) looked ominous at the 300m and started to wear down the leader, but coming hard to his outside was Field Of Gold, who showed a serious will to win in the closing stages, sticking his neck out and finding the line over Knight's Realm, with Scouser only a long-head back in third.

Thurlow was rapt with the performance, particularly after revealing the gelding had faced a setback which pushed back his return to race-day this season.

"It was great, he's a horse that has had his issues so for him to come back and do that, it's absolutely outstanding really," Thurlow said. "We're very happy with him.

"He had a little hairline fracture which took a while to come right, he was just starting to really get going last season and that happened and set him back again. He's had a bit of bad luck to be honest, but Matt and Diana (owners) really love the horse, so they have given him the time and let him come through it."

Field Of Gold holds an early nomination for the Gr.1 Herbie Dyke Stakes (2000m) in early February, but Thurlow is happy to take the gelding race-by-race at this stage.

Field Of Gold powering down the outside to take out the JR N Berkett 1400 at Trentham on Sunday. (Peter Rubery (Race Images Palmerston North))

"We had pencilled in an open mile for him in a couple of weeks, then there is the Marton Cup (Listed, 2200m) which he may end up at," he said.

"In saying that, we'll really just see how he comes through this race because first and foremost it's the horse, but if he comes through well and he's happy and sound, we've got a few little targets for him."

A son of Starspangledbanner, Field Of Gold was bred by his owners, the Goodson and Perrin Family Trust. The victory placed him just shy of $250,000 in stakes earnings, with five wins in 26 starts.

Field Of Gold's success continued a glittering season for Thurlow's stable, as his 17th winner in just 60 starters.

"I've got a very good team around me and the horses are going very well," he said. – LOVERACING.NZ News Desk

SWEYNESDAY CONTINUES RAPID RISE

The demise of racing in Singapore has had a bright side for Roger James and Robert Wellwood, with Sweynesday (NZ) (Sweynesse) emerging as an exciting young talent in their Cambridge stable.

The lightly raced four-year-old collected the third win of his five-start career with another promising performance in Saturday's Pathways – The Immigration Specialists (1200m) at Te Rapa.

Sweynesday races in the colours of Eric Koh's Falcon Racing, renowned as one of the leading owners in Singapore. The son of Sweynesse was bought for $80,000 by Koh, King Power and Bevan Smith Bloodstock from the 2022 Ready to Run Sale at Karaka. That group also paid $280,000 at the same sale to buy December, who James and Wellwood have trained to win three of his seven starts so far.

"We're fortunate to train Sweynesday for Falcon Racing," Wellwood said on Saturday. "He and another horse we've got in our stable were both bought to go to Singapore, and we've been the fortunate beneficiaries of what's happened to racing in Singapore. We're very grateful that they've decided to leave those two horses in our stable.

"They were both were bought at Karaka by a very good friend of mine, Bevan Smith, who has an excellent record of buying quality yearlings and two-year-olds that go on to perform on the racetrack. We're thrilled that he bought this horse and that he's ended up in our stable, and we're excited to see what the future holds for him."

Sweynesday had two starts as a three-year-old last season, finishing second on debut at Taupo in March before leaving maiden ranks with a smart victory at Ellerslie in April. The gelding resumed in October with a first-up defeat of subsequent winner Wind Of Change (Deep Field) at Ellerslie, then ran second behind the highly rated Twain (NZ) (Per Incanto) on November 30.

Sweynesday was sent out as a $2.60 favourite at Te Rapa on Saturday and produced a performance worthy of that billing. In-form jockey Masa Hashizume gave him a patient ride in midfield as Rayet (NZ) (Tivaci) led the field up to the point of the home turn.

Master Brutus (NZ) (Swiss Ace) tackled and headed Rayet in the straight, but then Sweynesday loomed ominously on his outside. Hashizume asked his mount for maximum effort and Sweynesday stretched out powerfully in the last 50m, edging ahead of Master Brutus to win by a short neck. Rayet held on for third, five lengths adrift of the first pair. The 1200m were run in 1:09.93.

Sweynesday's five-start career has produced three wins, two seconds and $92,025 in stakes.

"He's a quality horse," Wellwood said. "He doesn't have too many chinks in his record, running first or second in every start so far, and it was another good performance today. He'll learn more from that too, he was a little bit green, but Masa rode him patiently and timed his run perfectly.

"We'll see how the horse comes through today, but everything he's shown us so far is giving us a bit of confidence to think about raising the bar a bit higher with him later in the campaign. But the horse has to come first, so we'll wait a couple of days and make sure he's come through this well before making any other plans."
