MR BRIGHTSIDE READY TO TAKE ON BEST IN G1 FWD CHAMPIONS MILE

Mr Brightside works at Sha Tin on Monday morning (21 April). (Hong Kong Jockey Club)

Gr.1 FWD Champions Mile (1600m) contender Mr Brightside (NZ) (Bullbars) will adopt a change of tactics when the Australian visitor takes on the world's best in Sunday's (27 April) HK$24 million feature at Sha Tin.

Ben Hayes, who trains in partnership with his brothers Will and JD, is hoping a favourable barrier draw will allow jockey Craig Williams to give the seven-year-old gelding a softer run in the 1600m feature.

In Mr Brightside's three runs this campaign – twice at 1400m and his most recent when second in Gr.1 The All-Star Mile (1600m) on 8 March at Flemington – he has raced close to the speed.

"In this preparation our horse has had to lead and has hit the front at the 400m every race this prep," Hayes said. "And he has been a bit of a sitting duck."

"And we are hoping with Hong Kong, they tend to go a bit harder earlier and through his whole career he has always taken sits and we are hoping this time we can draw a barrier where we can look to ride him a little bit quieter and we'll be the last one hitting the line.

"I think the horse is in as good a form as he can be.

"We just need a bit of racing luck and if we draw the right barrier and I know this track is a very good draining track but a little bit of give in the track would be very good for us. Give is very important to us."

Mr Brightside has won on all track conditions.

Hayes said Mr Brightside had done everything right since arriving in Hong Kong last week and completed a leisurely canter around the Sha Tin's dirt on Monday morning. He said the gelding had a great temperament was not phased by the flight over or his new surroundings.

"We couldn't be happier with the way he has arrived and we look forward to seeing him gallop tomorrow," Hayes said. "He is moving well and has got a great coat on him and he looks fantastic. We are as happy as we can be."

Hayes said Mr Brightside weighed 520kg when he left Victoria and lost about 11-13kg on the flight over but had already regained the weight.

He said there would be no problem handling the right-handed track as he won races in Sydney in that direction.

"He has been very competitive every time he has been on his Sydney leg," Hayes said. "If anything, he is probably better on his Sydney leg."

Hayes said they had plenty of respect for the opposition, including local hero Voyage Bubble (Deep Field), and fellow Australian raider Royal Patronage (Wootton Bassett), who is trained by Gai Waterhouse & Adrian Bott.

With nine Group One victories, Hayes said Mr Brightside was a horse that never lets them down and he is predicting a top-three finish in the 1600m race.

"He is always in the finish and we think he is a top winning, top-three chance," he said. "Just talking to my brothers and the team, we just thought it was the right time to come. He is now seven and he has done nearly everything he can do in Australia."

Hayes said the trip was also special because their father David Hayes, back in Hong Kong for his second training stint, has Ka Ying Rising (NZ) (Shamexpress) as the favourite in the HK$22 million Gr.1 Chairman's Sprint Prize (1200m).

David Hayes will also saddle Rubylot (Rubick) in the HK$28 million Gr.1 FWD QEII Cup (2000m).

IFFIDIDIT SUCCESSFUL AT RIVERTON

Iffidit winning at Riverton on Easter Monday. (Monica Torretto)

Enigmatic galloper Iffidit (NZ) (Iffraaj) put his best foot forward when he scored fresh-up after a two-month break by taking out the feature flat event at Riverton on Easter Monday, the Max Winders Shearing/South Pacific Meats Thornbury Handicap (1400m).

The Anna Furlong-prepared five-year-old thrives on rain affected surfaces and the Heavy10 surface at Riverton proved ideal for his resumption as he settled back in the field before being sent forward by apprentice jockey Yogesh Atchamah with 700m to run.

Iffidit stalked former northerner Chevron (NZ) (El Roca) around the home bend and gained the upper hand over that runner at the 200m, drawing clear to win by half a length as Master Marko (NZ) (Contributer) boxed on solidly for third.

Furlong, who was back at home in Christchurch, was delighted with both the ride and the win.

"He's a nice horse who enjoys the sting out of the tracks, so conditions were perfect for him today," Furlong said.

"He just can't cop too many runs on the hard ground so we put him away for a few weeks and brought him back for today. It was a top effort and a lovely ride by Yogesh.

"He can be a pretty quirky customer and Yogesh is one of the few that actually get on with him. To be fair, the horse has been a little different right from his first day in the stable, but we all love him.

"Now the tracks are how he likes them I think we could line him up at Riccarton in a couple of weeks as there is a nice race (Easter Cup) over a mile that will suit him."

Iffidit is out of the Ustinov mare Iddit, who won on five occasions and was stakes placed in the Gr.3 Taranaki Breeders' Stakes (1400m).

He comes from an extended family that includes former quality Australian sprinter Biscayne Bay (Stravinsky).

RED-LETTER DAY FOR HINA AT WAVERLEY

New Plymouth trainer Tawhiti Hina took a quarter of his current eight-horse team to Waverley on Easter Monday and walked away with a pair of impressive winners.

Hina, who is only in his third year of training, was hoping the persistent rain on the day, which resulted in the track moving from a Soft6 to a Heavy9 after just three races, would play in favour of the maiden gallopers, and that was how it played out as both Summer Breeze (NZ) (Zed) and Side Piece (NZ) (Jon Snow) relished the underfoot conditions in their respective assignments.

First up was Summer Breeze, a four-year-old daughter of Zed who is out of the 2004 Gr.2 Queen Elizabeth Handicap (2400m) winner Mistrale (NZ) (Volksraad), who was sent straight to the front by apprentice Elle Sole and never gave her rivals a chance, skipping clear to win by more than five lengths in the Entain/NZB Insurance Pearl Series (1650m).

"She is a very promising mare who was just having her third start and I had been hoping for some rain as I knew she would really appreciate it," Hina said.

"She is a half-sister to a very good jumper in Shamal, who thrives in the wet, so I was just waiting for the tracks to soften for her.

"The way she won today I think she could be in for a very nice winter."

Hina and Sole were at it again 30 minutes later with four-year-old Jon Snow gelding Side Piece, who has taken time to grow into his massive 17 hand frame.

Sole provided an instant replay of her ride aboard Summer Breeze as she had Side Piece travelling sweetly in front in the maiden 2100m event before cutting him loose on the home bend to race clear by just over four lengths at the finish.

"He (Side Piece) is really just a big goof who knows nothing and needs more time to grow into his huge frame," Hina said.

"He has taken a long time to strengthen up and he is far from being the finished product, so we might give him a break now as he can go to the paddock on a winning note."

Summer Breeze is raced by her breeder Darren Goodin while Side Piece is owned by a syndicate of four, including Hina, after being gifted the horse by Clearview Park Stud owner Aaron Tapper after he was passed in during the Book 2 sale at Karaka in 2022.

BELZONI BREAKS THROUGH AT WAVERLEY

Juvenile gelding Belzoni (NZ) (Belardo) has shown plenty of promise at home for trainer Lisa Latta and he was able to transfer that to raceday when scoring his maiden success in the Wilson Livestock (1100m) at Waverley on Easter Monday.

The son of Belardo was pulled up shortly after the start when on debut at Trentham last October and was spelled over summer. He pleased Latta with his two runner-up trials heading into his resuming run, and Latta was full of confidence when the forecast rain arrived on Monday.

Belzoni jumped away well and settled in the coveted one out, one back position for jockey Jonathan Riddell where he enjoyed an economical passage throughout. He was presented three-wide at the turn and showed a blistering turn of foot in the final 200m on the Heavy8 going to score a 1-1/4 length victory over Spandeedo (NZ) (Ferrando), with a further neck back to Engine Of War (NZ) (Circus Maximus) in third.

Latta was pleased with the winning result and believes there is plenty more instore for the promising gelding.

"At Trentham he got pulled up, we think he just locked his stifle," she said. "We turned him out for a decent break and he has had two very nice trials coming back through. With the showers today it was always going to suit him."

"He is a typical Belardo, he is going to be better with a bit of time, both physically and mentally."

Bred by Don and Dame Wendy Pye, Belzoni was offered through Haunui Farm's 2024 New Zealand Bloodstock Book 2 Yearling Sale draft where he was purchased by Latta for $45,000.

He is out of winning St Petersburg mare Sinalot (NZ), and is the full-brother to six-win mare Caitlyns Wish (NZ) (Belardo) and half-brother to Group Three winner Carnival (NZ) (Showcasing).

HUTCHINGS CLOSE TO RIDING RETURN

Ex-pat Kiwi jockey Rory Hutchings is keen to get his riding career back on track after being off the scene since February courtesy of the broken collarbone he suffered in a nasty fall when his mount clipped heels at Taupo in late February.

Hutchings, who was in a purple patch of form during his extended summer riding stint back home, was left to rue the fact he missed out on several high-profile rides on Champions Day at Ellerslie last month, although he is philosophical about the incident.

"It is one of those things really and while I did miss out on some excellent rides, I'm also thankful it was just the collarbone as it could have been much worse," Hutchings said.

"You have to look at the positives, so while I may have missed out, I did get to walk away in better shape than I could have been.

"I've made excellent progress since the fall and when I saw the surgeon last week he told me I could probably get back riding now at a pinch but the best thing to do would be to give it another fortnight, which is what I'm going to do.

"My weight is good so when it is time to get back to trackwork I will be good to go."

Hutchings is back in Sydney and is looking forward to working with some of the bigger stables that he has forged excellent contacts with over the past decade.

"I ride a lot of work for people like Chris Waller and Michael Freedman so I'm really keen to get back to work with them as they have been very loyal and supported me a hell of a lot," he said.

"When I was in New Zealand I managed to win a Group Two (Westbury Classic, 1400m) aboard Konasana for Chris and that was such a huge buzz.

"It may not have been a Group One but it sure felt like it and to be able to get the job done for the stable, who don't often travel horses to New Zealand, was just so special.

Injured expat Kiwi hoop Rory Hutchings is nearing a return to the saddle. (Kenton Wright (Race Images))

"It was actually quite neat to see so many Australian horses come across for summer racing which I think is testament to the work that has been done to lift the whole Industry, and that success can only help it develop further."

With 14 wins of which four were at stakes level, including the Gr.1 Herbie Dyke Stakes (2000m) aboard

El Vencedor, Hutchings is definitely contemplating a second New Zealand summer stint next season.

"I haven't really looked too far ahead at this stage but the way things went for me I would definitely like to try it again next season," he said.

"I was delighted to get rides aboard horses like El Vencedor and if the cards fall the right way then I could well be back again in 2026."
