

Interviews with Indie Authors

By: Winona Veil

Meeting Our Community

Who We Are

We're a diverse group of up and coming independent writers, readers, and artists. Whether you're just starting your quest to becoming a writer, or have already self published a book, there is space for you here. Now more than ever, it is vital we join as a community to support those left in the margins. The time is now to be loud and make our presence known. How loud will you be?

-Winona Veil

Our Quest

Our main quest is to uplift the voices of indie writers and those in marginalized communities, one story at a time. Let's prove those wrong who have stood in our way, insisting there is no place and market for us. This is an attention economy and how you choose to spend that commodity is important. Are you choosing the books you read or the books that were already chosen for you?

-Winona Veil

Join Our Community on Discord

Scan the code to join

Or type in the invite code: YwX64raWUT

Interviews with Indie Authors

By: Winona Veil

Meeting Maria J. Hart

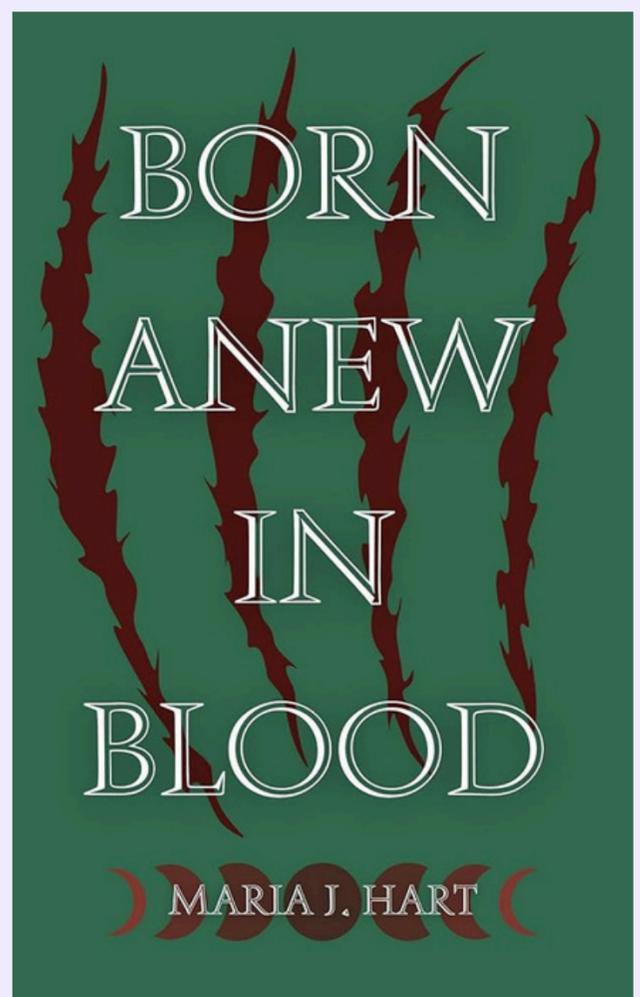

About the Author

Maria J. Hart is an advocate for marginalized voices on social media and on the page. Born Anew in Blood is a “paranormal romance about mentally ill bisexuals getting revenge and taking down the bad guys”. Use the QR code below to follow Maria on socials and buy her books! - Winona Veil

What’s an Indie Book You’d Recommend?

“Outdrawn by Deanna Gray and A Soul’s Journey Home by Glorya Rodriguez are two of my most recent favorites!”- Maria J. Hart

Interviews with Indie Authors

By: Winona Veil

Meeting T. Shadow

About the Author

T. Shadow is an indie author debuting her first graphic novel Wolf Nation, in October 2025. Follow Zora on her journey to rebuild her werewolf pack during the zombie apocalypse. Use the QR code below to help support T. Shadow self publish Wolf Nation and find her on social media.

What Inspires You?

What Inspires You?

“If I can boil it down to just one thing: its dynamics. Essentially how people interact with each other and the world around them...”-

T.Shadow

Interviews with Indie Authors

By: Winona Veil

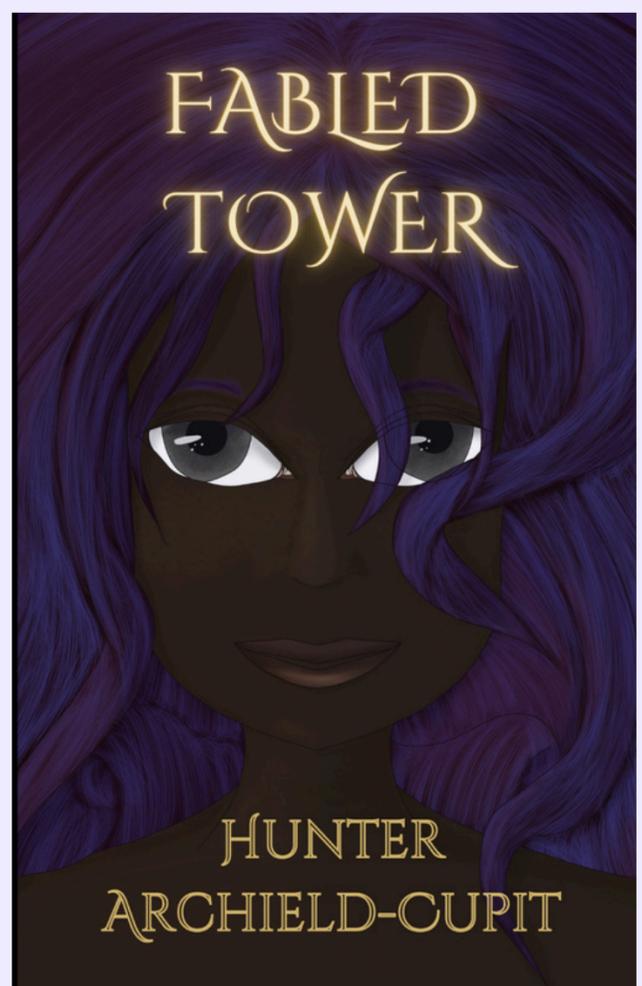

Meeting Hunter Archield-Cupit

About the Author

Hunter is a game designer and indie author debuting Fabled Tower at the end of summer. “When the hero finds out she has magical power, she now has to figure out what she now wants to do with her life. Follow in the family footsteps or forge her own path?”.

What Inspired You?

Fabled Tower was written to help people jump through the hurdles of life and to those figuring out who they are.

Interviews with Indie Authors

By: Winona Veil

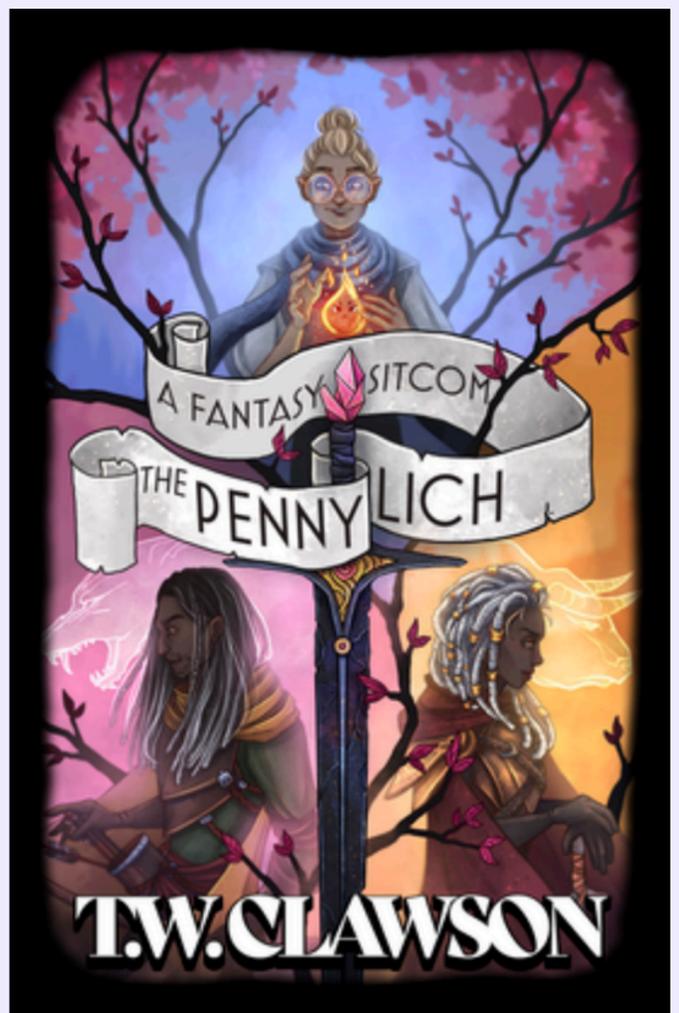

Meeting T.W Clawson

About the Author

T.W. Clawson is an indie writer and podcaster with a love of sitcoms. The Penny Lich blends humor, fantasy, and friendship when Elliot the cleric wins ownership of The Penny Lich Tavern.

Fun Facts

You can head to T.W. Clawson's website if you live in the Portland, Oregon area if you're interested in recording Table Reads of The Penny Lich.

Interviews with Indie Authors

By: Winona Veil

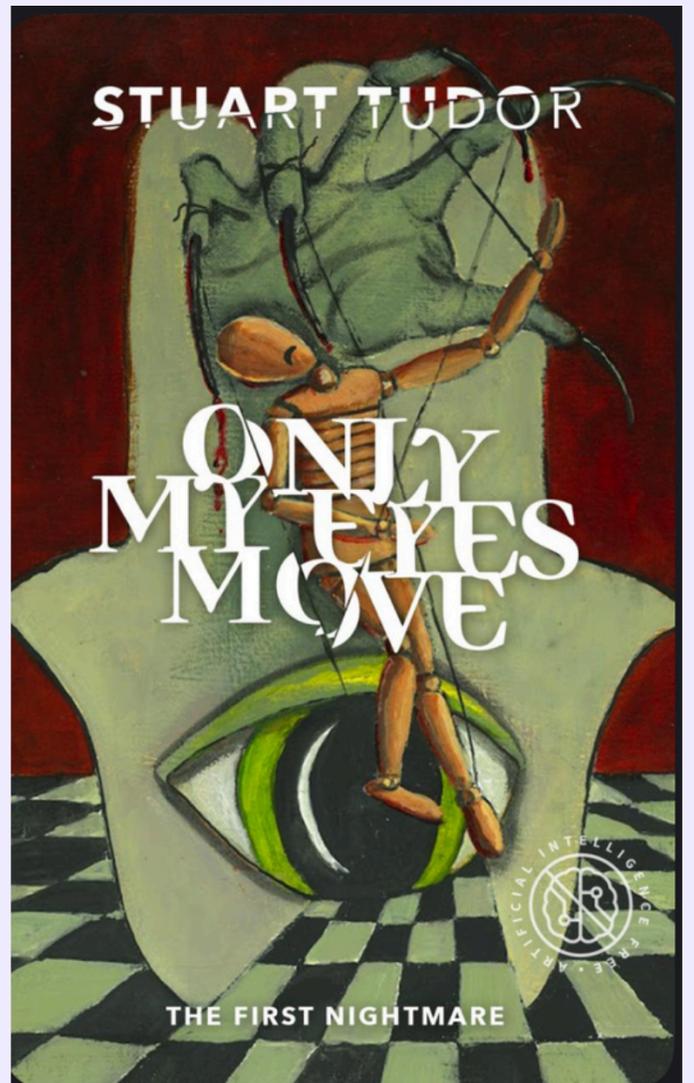

Meeting Stuart Tudor

About the Author

Stuart Tudor is the horror indie writer of the Eight Nightmares Collection. His story Only My Eyes Move is about Billy. “He doesn’t know where or what he is. all he know is he can only move his eyes, the rest of his body is attached to strange threads, keeping him trapped.

How do you Want Readers to Feel?

Stuart wants readers to feel ““fear, hope, and a drive for a better tomorrow” while reading his work.

Interviews with Indie Authors

By: Winona Veil

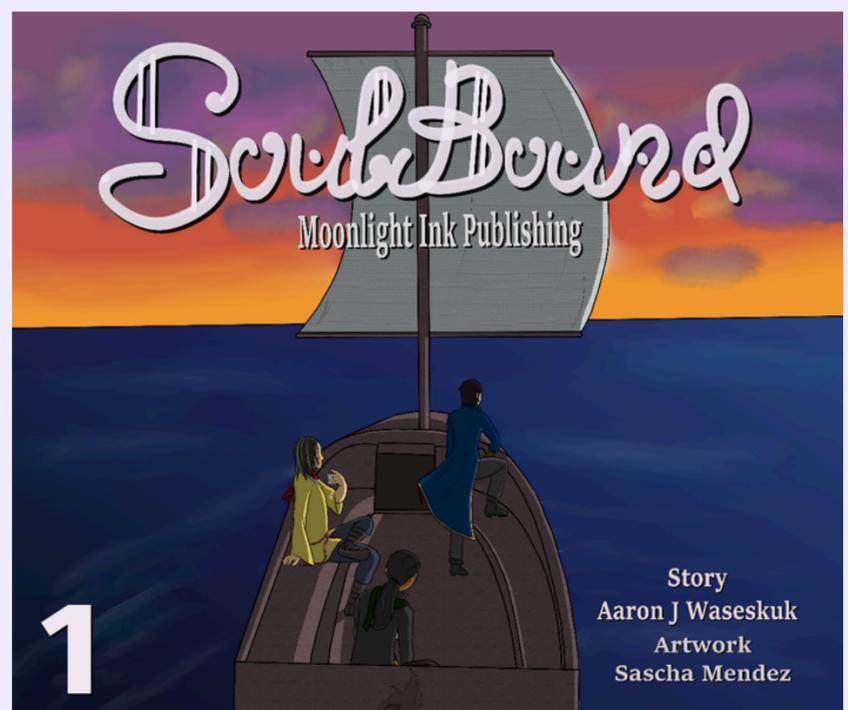

Meeting the SoulBound Team

About the Team

Indie writer Aaron Wasesuk and illustrator Sascha Mendez bring the fantasy/horror world of “SoulBound” to life. Follow Jaelyn in her journey to discovering, “The Soul... the source of spiritual energy within us all”.

Fun Facts

Writer Aaron and illustrator Sascha are long time friends. Their love of manga/anime such as “Naruto, Avatar: The Last Airbender, and Sailer Moon” influenced helped to inflicted the story of SoulBound.

Interviews with Indie Authors

By: Winona Veil

Meeting Dirk Biesinger

About the Author

Challenging the ideas of what the world can look like while discovering dragons and magic, Dirk Biesinger brings to life the world of A Discovery of Dragons. The prequel, Xavie of Shamain released May 12, 2025.

Fun Facts

Originally, the world and message of this series was meant to be a video game. With the help from his wife who painted this beautiful book cover, the world of “Boreas” was born.

